Callfornia On Up And Up, Says A. P. Giannini, Visitor in Nevada City

That California agriculture and industry are facing a constantly improving outlook, with most of the farming of the state now yielding profits, was the view expressed by A. P. Giannini, Chairman of the Board of Bank of America, who visited the Nevada City Branch of the Bank of America yesterday.

"A tour of Central and Southern California within the past two weeks has brought home to me very clearly the fact that this state's position agriculturally and industrially is outstanding as compared with other sections of the nation," said Giannini.

"Through its diversity of products and of climatic conditions, California is particularly and pecularly blessed. This factor is reflected in the California farmer's successful operations this year.

"With the exceptions of livestock, dairying and poultry, California agriculture is in a very favorable condition, and already these industries are seeing daylight ahead. Dairy and poultry products have shown a gain in prices within the last few weeks, and beef cattle prices will strengthen in the winter and spring months if not earlier.

"The government's program of taking vast numbers of beef cattle and sheep off the livestock market and canning the beef and mutton for relief distribution has already strengthened the Eastern market and will increase in effect as time goes on. The dairy industry will be similarly benefitted by the reduction of dairy stock.

"In southern California the market for citrus fruits has shown excellent improvement this year and growers are receiving fine returns. Prunes and all other dried fruits are up, and although the market for wine grapes has been somewhat limited, an increase in prices is to be expected."

Giannini stressed the operations of the Federal Housing program as factors stimulating to California industry. Improvement already is noticeable in lumber, he said, and as the Housing program progresses, further improvement will ensue.

"The co-operation of banks with the Federal Housing Administration by making loans for repairing and modernizing homes, business properties and farm buildings will result in the expenditure of large sums of money for hire of skilled laborers and for building materials and fixtures," he said. "These expenditures especially those for employment, will do much to aid in the country's recovery, and our institutions has been prompt in offering its co-operation.

"In addition, another phase of the Housing program will soon go into effect, a plan under which it will be possible for borrowers to obtain up to $16,0000 for new buildings, on mortgages insured by the government. This, of course, will provide still more jobs and will put more money to work."

A new day is dawning in banking, Giannini believes, with bankers required to meet professional standards and therefore prohibited from practices which led to unsound conditions in some sections of the United States in the past.

"The day of the speculator in banking is over," he said. "And so is the time when the unscrupulous banker could use his inside information to feather his own nest, to the detriment of his depositors and his stockholders.

"The time has come when banking and business are to be operated for the best interests of the greatest number of people, a goal directly in line with the established policy of Bank of America."

"Our institutions, from the time it was founded as the Bank of Italy in 1904, has made it a practice to be a good neighbor to its customers, which means that its operations are conducted 100 per cent for their best interests. It will develop that all banks in this country, through volition or necessity, will inevitably follow our lead."

SPANISH WAR VET. REUNION IS NOTABLE EVENT

The reunion of 12 posts of Spanish War Veterans in Grass Valley Saturday and Sunday was one of the notable events of this year. Over 400 veterans, their wives and families attended the reunion. The second degree was conferred upon the following members Sunday morning at an impressive ceremony:

Honorary membership was conferred upon Congressman Harry L. Englebright, of Nevada City; U. S. Senator Pat McCarran, of Nevada, State Senator John M. Inman of Sacramento.

Congressman Englebright in a stirring address gave special emphasis to the part veterans organizations are taking in combatting the communistic menace and declared that they were a most effectual bulwark in protecting American institutions.

Senator Pat McCarran was a great favorite with the veterans and he and Mrs. McCarran were three hours in making their way from the Legion hall to the Bret Harte Inn, so many veterans stopped them to shake their hands.

Lieutenant Commander Williams of the Lincoln post presided at both evening and daytime sessions.

Initiation into the Snaix was held Sunday morning. Fourteen pythons were chosen. Among them were H. L. Englebright, Pat McCarran, and John M. Inman.

SEVEN MORE BOYS TO ENROLL IN CUB SCOUTS

Seven new names were handed into Cug Scout Master Clifford Merriam at the first meeting of the new term, Tuesday evening. The new boys are Warren Smith, Leland Thompson, Tom Ashton, Jim Hamilton, John Alderson, Roy Ritter, and Joe Curry.

TWENTY EIGHT LADS ENROLLED IN GRID SQUAD

Twenty-eight Nevada City high stalwarts are out for laurels on the football field. Coach Barron started practice shortly after school began, and those who are still on the lists are as follows: Don Jones, Bill Mullis, Ray Steger, Bill Bennett, Ray Wilde, Art Elliott, Mervin Doolittle, Albert Pratti, Carl Tobiassen, Morris Roberts, A. Cartoscelli, Dick Stevens, W. Hallett, Don Williams, Norman Chatfield, Kenneth Younkin, Walt Mullis, Lacey Jones, Dick Marriott, Fan Robbins, Phillip Joyal, Don Budi, Fred Browning, Ben Tamblyn, Jim Stephens, Earl Chatfield, Harlath Brock, and M. Santinelli.

This squad of twenty-eight is the largest to turn out for the game in the history of the high school. Coach Barron Barron announces that the first game will be played with Oroville, on September 22, at Oroville. The tentative line-up for the Oroville game is as follows:

Right tackle—Fan Robbins.
Right guard—Mervin Doolittle.
Center—Carl Tobiassen.
Quarter-back—Dick Stevens.
Full back—Don Jones.

Coach Barron reports that the team is a light but shifty one, and that it is going into practice with determination and vigor. In view of the good work-outs so far, and the number of boys out for the sport, Mr. Barron is fairly optimistic about the coming season.

Mrs. Gertrude Botting and daughter, Miss Lyle Botting, of the bay district, are in Nevada City for a few days, visit with friends.

DIAMOND DRILL TESTS SITES OF PROPOSED DAMS

William Maguire Jr., mining engineer is engaged in making drill tests of several dam sites for the California Debris Commission, preparatory to a report to the United States Board of Army Engineers. The dam sites which are being tested by the diamond drill, are the Upper Norton, or Black Rock, on the South Yuba, The Upper Narrows site near Smartsville, the site three miles above the bridge on the Auburn-Forest Hill road on the North Fork of the American, and the Rucka Chucky site on the Middle Fork of the American. There is a possibility that sites on the Bear River and at Freeman's may also be tested.

Holes from 75 to 150 feet deep are drilled, depending upon the character of the material revealed by the drill. At each site from six to nine holes are drilled.

MIDNIGHT CLOSING RULE PROTESTED; COUNCIL PUZZLED

Petitioners last night asked the city council to revoke the 12 o'clock closing ordinance. The petitioners pleaded the ordinance sent business out of the city to nearby communities.

The city's spraying equipment was loaned to Grass Valley, that city to pay expenses incidental to its use.

B. F. Wright reported water rental collections of $2,430.71 in August, and collections of delinquent charges of nearly $1,000.

BILLS ALLOWED ORDERED PAID ....B. F. Wright, $85; H. S. Hallett, $62; G. H. Calanan, $20; Mrs. Emma Foley, $12; Miles D. Coughlin, $12.50; Dr. E. M. Rosener, $25; W.

Building Activity In Nevada City Gaining

BUILDING Continues active in Nevada City with several new homes being started and ground being purchased for more.

The lumber is on the ground for the Lorin Williams home on their property, recently purchased from Ted Nelson in the northeastern part of Nevada City.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Carnes have purchased a large lot and small house across from the Nevada City Sanitarium, on Coyote street. They hope to start construction of a new home before long. Mr. Carnes is Nevada City's sign painter.

Foundations were laid in the last few days for the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Gregory on their property up on the Tahoe Ukiah highway.

The new house being built by Dan Treanor on the lower Grass Valley road near the high school, is rapidly nearing completion.

Mr. and Mrs. Howell Thompson, who recently acquired the George Stine home on Piety Hill, have made a big improvement by clearing the back of their large lot.

Coroner A. M. Holmes is to build a four car garage back of the Nevada City Funeral Home, where a fire destroyed the building recently.

A stone mason is erecting a stone wall in front of the H. E. Kjorlie home, a charming residence, recently completed.

The frame work is up for the first store space at the Tognarelli building on lower Broad street. Mr. Tognarelli states he has had several apply for renting of the apartments and store rooms.

LET'S CHOOSE THE MIDDLE WAY

(Editorial)

Some of the men, who supported the candidacy of C. C. Young for Governor, have now thrown their support to Acting Governor Frank Merriam, who won the Republican nomination.

They do not seem to sense the catastrophe which California is rapidly approaching, the crisis which we in this Golden State face.

On the one hand is Upton Sinclair, bawling from the house tops that California has a large number of persons on the verge of starvation; implying that he is a Messiah to lead us out of the morass of debt and desperate need; practically boasting of the certainty of his election; and most menacing of all, threatening in event he is made governor of his "adopted" state, to whip recalcitrant legislators into line by himself invoking the referendum and recall against them.

This aligns every communist, socialist and downright anarchist with Sinclair. All shades of radical color are marching under the Sinclair banner, invoking the name of Franklin Roosevelt, and crying for California a Newer Deal, going away beyond what the present administration in Washington is doing, in the scope of his promises. What Sinclair promises is virtually a dictatorship in state government.

On the other hand is Frank Merriam, already alienated

"No Income-No Taxes" Is Syncrotax Slogan

BY RALPH TAYLOR

EDITOR'S NOTE: In the following article, Ralph H. Taylor, farm leader and governmental observer, presents the highlights of the so-called Syncrotax amendment, which will appear on the November ballot, together with arguments for the plan as set forth by its sponsors... Next week, Mr. Taylor will present the arguments against the plan, as advanced by its opponents... Mr. Taylor's articles will seek to present the case "pro and con," without prejudice, for the information of taxpayers and voters.

"No income—no taxes!"

Such is the major inducment offered by sponsors of the so-called Syncrotax amendment—revolutionary tax plan which will be submitted to California voters at the general election on November 6th.

At a single stroke, advocates of the new plan propose to abolish all existing city, county, state and school taxes—wiping out every tax except improvement district levies and federal taxes.

And as a substitute for the present complicated tax structure, they propose enactment of the Syncrotax—a gross transactions tax, which would take a percentage (variously estimated at from 1 to 5 per cent) of the gross income, money turnover, or value turnover, of every individual, co-partnership, corporation, institution, industry and enterprise.

From these revenues it is proposed to finance all California government, including local and state, as well as school support. The property tax, gas tax, sales tax, personal property tax, inheritance tax, franchise tax, the gross receipts tax on utilities, tc., would all be thrown into the discard.

There would be absolutely no exemptions under the Syncrotax, except that banks would not be taxed in excess of 50 per cent of their net income. Charities, church collections, orphan aid, old age pensions and libraries and museums—all tax exempt under the present system—would be taxable under the new set-up, which would also cancel present exemptions for veterans.

Sponsors of the plan, headed by W. M. Patch, of Los Angeles, guiding genius of the National Syncrotax Association, advance the claim that Syncrotax will effect an immediate improvement in business by abolishing all real estate taxes, except for the turnover tax.

"Under Syncrotax," declares Mr. Patch, "the total tax on real property would, we believe, not exceed 2 per cent of its revenues and price when sold. The result would be a stupendous movement of this great basic commodity and a consequent increase in values. California, with such a low rate of real estate taxes, at once would become the "white spot" of the nation for real estate development."

He also states: 'Syncrotax proposes that any individual, company, institution and enterprise pays if, as and when money is received, thus effecting simple justice: No income—no taxes!"

While this statement is literally true, it must be kept in mind, however, that the Syncrotax is a tax on GROSS INCOME, rather than NET INCOME—and a business would pay the tax without regard to whether it showed a profit.

Virtually every exchange of money would be taxable under Syncrotax—and every turnover of commodities, but proponents of the plan contend that the evils of "pyramiding" would be offset by the fact that the rate would be low and that all other forms of taxation would be abolished.

The tax would be administered by the State Syncrotax Administration, a board of five members—one elected at large, to be paid $10,000 per year, and four, elected by districts, to be paid $8,000 per year. The tax would be collected by County Syncrotax Administrators, whose salaries would be fixed by the County Board of Supervisors.

Next week: "The Case Against The Syncrotax".

ABSENT VOTERS COUNT CHANGES BUT ONE RESULT

The Board of Supervisors yesterday completed their official canvas of the ballots cast in the primary election and counted the absent voters ballots of which there were 321. U. S. Senator Hiram Johnson received 2,438 Republican votes.

The supervisorial race in the third and fourth districts was fairly close. In the fourth, while W. E. O'Dell led Jos. A. Frank in the first reports, the absent voters ballots returned him to office. The final vote was 345 for Frank to 339 for O'Dell. In the third district E. J. Haverstock received 188 votes against 222 for E. B. Dudley.

FIRE AT FREEMAN'S CROSSING CONTROLLED

CAMPTONVILLE, Sept. 5.—Several forest fires of apparent incendiary origin started Monday afternoon in this district, in the vicinity of upper Freeman's Crossing. One of the smaller fires near Shafer's mining claim was soon put under control with a crew of local men, but the others diverted into one big fire and with a swift wind, within a short time spread to and beyond Schmell's ranch.

A crew of about 100 men were on the lines under the direction of Forest Ranger Frank W. Meggers, and the fire was put under control, and it was hoped that it could be held there.

WORK

During a depression many of us begin to question the value of those things for which the ordinary mortal strives. We look more avidly for acquisitions which cannot be taken away from us once we have them. In the opinion of Professor Leon J. Richardson, director of the University of California Extension Division, education is one of these. In connection with the opening of several hundred adult classes this fall throughout the state, he said:

"Day, water, sunshine, moonbeams—these are not bought with money," as a Roman poet once observed. They come from Heaven. The blessings, however, which we secure for ourselves are mainly the rewards of toil, not got through influence, chance, or robbery. In short, the lasting satisfaction of life must be earned. Examples abound. Paderewski, whatever were his inborn powers, developed his art through long hard work. In the same spirit Horace counseled those who would acquire a literary style to thumb the Greek models by night, thumb them by day.

A planned life is better than a helterskelter one, just as planned society is better than chaos. A rivulet following the line of least resistance, runs crookedly. It is not safe to rely on one's luck, talents, or relatives. Even investments may fail, as has of late been brought home to us, almost the only unshrunk assets turning out to be health, a well trained mind, money previously well spent, and a sense of humor. Francis Quarles thus pictures the way to achievement:

We spend our midday sweat, our midnight oil,
We tire the night in thought, the day in toil.

ACCIDENT VICTIM LEAVES HOSPITAL

Mrs. C. R. Anton, who was severely hurt in an automobile accident on the Colfax road, left the Landis hospital on Tuesday morning. Dr. B. W. Mrs. Gertrude Carr left Wednesday for her home in San Diego after a visit with her niece, Mrs. L. R. Robins and husband.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hammill are leaving to attend an Asseors convention which is to be held September 10, 11, and 12. The convention will take place in Yosemite.

IT'S TRUE-- --BUT WHY?

I wrote a poem a la vogue
And labored to perfect it,
I sent it to a grubby pulp,
Which straightway did reject it.

Enraged, I mailed it to a slick—
A check was promptly sent me!
"I'll capture fortune now," I cried,
"And nothing shall prevent me."

But as I scan that lucky screed,
Grave fears arise about it;
Can I keep writing verse like this?
The answer is, "I doubt it."

You see, I know it's not so good—
No rime, not wit, no reason,
To call it poetry or art,
Would surely be rank treason.

It wails along in minor key,
It buckles up and shuffles;
I wrote it, but its crooning tone,
My hectic spirit ruffles.

I won't write stuff like this again—
I don't know why I did it;
But if I should attempt the stunt,
Stern god of verse forbid it.

Still there's one thing I've got to know
Before my fears are routed;
Why did that slick accept a thing
The grubby pulp rejected?

A. Merriam Conner.

BETWEEN THE LINES

BY A. MCNULTY

Between now and the elections in November, and very possibly for some time thereafter; California will be, more than ever, in the blazing spotlight of National interest.

Upton Sinclair, boldly advocating his now famous 'end poverty in California' plan; in winning the Democratic nomination for Governor, attracts the attention of the world.

This is perhaps, one of the clearest expositions of the present temper of a large percentage of the voting population, possible to obtain. Whereas Roosevelt, elected on more or less vague promises of a 'New Deal'; has already initiated policies at least as revolutionary as some that Sinclair proposes; Sinclair boldly sets forth his program in all its details, and—so far—is supported.

Granting that such a platform as he advocates would not have been seriously considered by either of the dominant parties even as recently as two years ago, results shown in the recent primaries are a portentous sign of the trend of public opinion.

What may develop between now and the general election is problematical. Already some events that may still further influence public sentiment, have made their appearance.

The report that Acting Governor Merriam is faced with the extremely embarrassing necessity of calling a special session of the State Legislature for the sole purpose of devising further state aid to un-employment relief; will no doubt develop in fact.

Whatever steps may be taken in regard to un-employment relief, it means that somewhere, somehow, taxes must be levied to provide necessary additional money.

The threatened textile workers strike, may also very conceiveably effect California politics. The strike, involving as it does more than a half million workers, is believed to be the fore-runner of other and larger strikes. What the Presiden'ts solution to this gigantic problem will be is not known. It seems safe to hazard a guess however, that his weight will be thrown on the side of Labor—trending still farther toward Liberalism.

It is difficult to believe that Roosevelt will withhold his support of Sinclair—after his own actions.

Whatever views you and I may hold in the matter of the virtues or infeasibilities of Sinclair's plan—the fact remains that; coming as it did, to a major portion of the population in a state of mind receptive to any definite proposals not entirely unreasonable; the idea has captured the popular imagination.

More and more, old political party lines are being erased and new sides are aligning—Conservative versus Liberal.

FRENCH CORRAL MINE STAFF REORGANIZED

Reorganization of the official staff of the French Corral gravel property has been completed with Mr. Wise as superintendent. Ben F. Maddox, the former superintendent, has resigned. Mrs. Buffington is also interested in the property. All are San Francisco people.

This spring an effort was made to dry wash the gravel for recovery of gold, as is done in the desert country, but it is thought the material was too heavy for this method of mining.

One shift per day of several men are steadily employed in working the gravel. Water, although low, is being taken from the old Esperence diggings for washing the gravel.

NEVADA COUNTY HAS NOTABLE FAIR EXHIBITS

A miniature stamp mill constructed for this year's exhibit, is dropping stamps in the Nevada county exhibit at the State Fair and with a large map showing the mining activity of the county is drawing throngs to the booth.

There are many gold ore specimens from the notable mines of the county. A case contains placer and lode gold nuggets. W. H. Griffith, secretary of the Nevada City Chamber of Commerce, is in charge of the booth.

ROBBERS' ROOST

THE STORY

CHAPTER I.—Jim Wall, young cowpuncher from Wyoming, in the early days of the cattle industry, seeks a new field in Utah. He meets Hank Hays, who admits to being a robber, and tells Wall he is working for an Englishman named Herrick, who has located a big ranch in the mountains. Herrick has employed a small army of rustlers and gun-fighters, and Hays and others are plotting to steal their employer's cattle and money. Hays wants Wall to throw in with the rustlers.

CHAPTER II.—At the little settlement of Green River, Hays gets into an argument with a gambler called Stud, over a poker game. Wall saves Hank's life by bluffing the gambler out of shooting. With Hays and two other rustlers, Happy Jack and Lincoln, Jim Wall starts out for Herrick's ranch. In camp, the first night out, Jim regrets the step he has taken, but it is too late to turn back.

CHAPTER III.—The four men arrive at the ranch. Herrick announces that his sister, Helen, is coming to the ranch. Hays unfolds his plan for getting possession of the 12,000 head of live stock on the Herrick ranch. He and his lieutenants ride away to drive off the first bunch of cattle. Jim remains behind to shoot it out, if necessary, with Heeseman, Hays' rival among the cattle rustlers. Jim sees a dust cloud, which he is certain denotes the arrival of Heeseman and his gang. He stands with rifle ready.

CHAPTER IV

When the group of riders reached the point where the lane crossed the brook, just out of pistol range, they halted, and one, evidently the leader, came on to the bridge.

"Hi, thar," he yelled, reining his horse.

"Hi, yourself," shouted back Jim.

The man, who, of course, Jim took to be Heeseman, walked his horse half the intervening distance and stopped again.

At this juncture Happy Jack emerged from the cabin and carelessly propped a rifle against the wall.

"Who's callin'?" he boomed.

"I don't know," replied Jim.

"I'm Bill Heeseman, an' I come to talk," called the visitor.

"Friendly talk?" queried Jim.

"Wal, if it ain't you'll be to blame."

"Come right over."

Jim leaned his rifle against the rail and stood aside. Heeseman did not look up as he mounted the steps. He took off an old sombrero to disclose the tanned, clear-skinned face of a man under forty with narrow, blue eyes reddened by wind and dust. It was a more open visage than Jim had expected to see. Certainly Heeseman was a more prepossessing man, at first sight, than Hays.

"Mind if I set down?" he asked.

"Make yourself at home," replied Jim.

"Air you Wall?"

"Yes, that's my name. And this is Happy Jack, another of Hays' outfit."

Heeseman nodded to Jack, who replied with a civil "Howdy," and went back into the cabin. Then Heeseman leaned against the wall and treated Jim to a frank, shrewd gaze.

"You're Hays' right-hand man, just late from Wyomin'?"

"Last is correct, anyhow."

"Do you know him?" queried Heeseman, in lower voice.

"Perhaps not so well as you," replied Jim, who suddenly reminded himself that he knew Hays but slightly.

"I'm goin' to tell you somethin'."

"Heeseman, you'll only waste your breath," declared Jim, impatiently.

"Wal, I don't waste much of thet," drawled the other. "But if you wasn't new to Utah I'd save myself this trouble. An' you're goin' to believe what I tell you."

"Why will I?"

"Because it's true."

No argument could gainsay that; moreover, the man had truth in his blue slits of eyes and in his voice.

"Did Hays tell you I was a rustler?"

"I think he mentioned it."

"Did he tell you we was pards once? . . . Thet he double-crossed me?"

"No."

"Wal, I'll let it go at thet," returned Heeseman, coolly. "Much obliged for lettin' me come up. An' if you get curious just ride over to see me."

He rose, stretched his long length, and walked off the porch to mount his horse, leaving Jim about as surprised as he had ever been. Happy Jack came out in time to see him join his comrades and ride back with them toward the corrals.

"Short visit. Glad it was. What'd he want?"

"Darn if I savvy, altogether. Didn't you hear any of our talk?"

"No. I reckoned the less I heard the better. Then Hank couldn't razz me. But I had a hunch of what he was up to."

Jim did not press the question. He carried his rifle back into the cabin, rather ashamed of his overhaste, and feeling already curious enough to call on Heeseman.

They had supper, after which Jack smoked and talked, while Jim listened. Evidently Happy Jack had taken a liking to him. Jim went to bed early, not because he was sleepy, but to keep from calling on that fellow Heeseman.

How many nights Jim Wall had lain down under the dark trees to wakefulness, to the thronging thoughts that must mock the rest of any man who has strayed from the straight and narrow path! It tormented him at certain times. But that never kept the old concentrated pondering over tomorrow from gaining control of his consciousness.

There had been no hesitation about Hank Hays declaring himself in regard to Heeseman. Callous, contemptuous, Hays had indicated the desirability of riding the range of Heeseman. But Heeseman had been subtle.

Unquestionably his motive had been to undermine Hays in Jim's regard. And a few questions and an assertion or two had had their effect. Jim made the reservation that he had not accepted Hays on anything but face value. Still the robber had gradually built up a character of intent force, cunning, and strength. These had crashed, though there was no good reason for that. Jim had not accepted Hays' word for anything.

Hays was not a square partner! This stuck in Jim's craw.

Why this seemed true puzzled Jim. Heeseman had simply verified a forming but still disputed suspicion in Jim's mind—that Hank Hays had evil designs upon Herrick's sister. Heeseman and Hays had probably known for weeks that this English girl was expected to arrive.

MILL ORDERED TO HANDLE BLUE POINT GRAVEL

Since taking over the Blue Point gravel property at Smartsville, more than 800 feet of old workings have been opened and a new 440 foot double compartment incline shaft has been sunk on the gravel to bedrock proving the extension of the channel 200 feet beyond the old workings known as the Wheaton and Dunn, and are said to average $6 per yard.

Authorization has been given for the purchase of a 150 ton capacity mill to handle cemented gravel that it is expected will cost $25,000 by the Gold Exploration Company, a subsidiary of the Tintic Standard Mining Company, which is operating the property. It is expected that this mill will be a Price gravel mill or similiarly equipped mill.

GARESIO MINE READY TO MILL EIGHTY TONS

The Garesio property is being developed by E. R. Dawson, K. H. Hanson, W. D. Hume Jr., and A. H. Simpson, instead of Bob Flyn as was erroneously reported. They are now sinking a shaft, which is down to the 55 foot level and are erecting a stamp mill. The ore is reported to run $25 a ton, and 80 tons are now on hand to be milled at the custom mill this week. Two men are now employed at the mine.

HALKYARD MINE LEASED

CAMPTONVILLE. Sept. 1.—M. G. Calvin has entered into a lease with J. C. Le Furgey, of San Francisco, for the Halkyard mine, located seven miles north of this place. The new man will take charge right away and begin to work the property. The Halkyard mine is a placer property upon which considerable development work has been done and is a well known property in this section, with a good channel of virgin gravel and with the prospects of developing into a good mine.

LODI WELCOMES WORLD TO ITS GRAPE FIESTA

LODI, Sept. 6.—Hospitality with a capital H awaits visitors to the first annual Northern San Joaquin County Grape Festival, to be held here, September 7, 8, and 9, it was announced today.

Not only will Lodi throw wide its doors for the reception and entertainment of guests but will also provide them with free packages of luscious Tokay grapes and with free samples of the famous wines of the district.

This was made known by C. S. Jackson, general chairman, and John B. Cella, head of the committee which is arranging to escort visitors on tours of the vineyards and wineries. As another educational feature, a full-size grape packing house will be operated for public inspection.

Plans for the three-day festival, including parades, athletic events and varied amusements, have been completed by the Lodi Mustache Club, sponsors of the program in celebration of California's grape and wine industry, now experiencing a great revival after years of obscurity.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Bosworth and son Donald and nephew Walter Bosworth, and house guests, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Caulford, of Livermore, spent Sunday motoring to Reno and Lake Tahoe.

IDAHO MARYLAND MINE GUARDS SURFACE WORKS

Workmen last week began the erection of a ten-foot heavy wire fence which will encircle the surface workings of the Idaho-Maryland mine near Grass Valley. The posts are of heavy steel set in concrete and topped with three strands of barbed wire. Gates will be placed at the several entrances to the property.

It is reported guards will be placed at the entrances and no one but employes and persons on business will be admitted. The Idaho-Maryland Company recently purchased two sub-machine guns.

THANKS NEVADA COUNTY VOTERS

I wish to thank the Republican and Democratic voters of Nevada county for their splendid support on Tuesday, August 28 in my campaign for the Assembly. I am deeply grateful to the voters of the 6th district for displaying their confidence in me and trust that my actions during the coming term will justify that confidence.

Inasmuch as my district covers ten counties and over 600 miles in length it is impossible to meet everyone personally and I take this means of expressing my sincere thanks to the voters and those who aided me in my campaign.

JESSE M. MAYO,
Member Assembly, 6th Dist.

A jolly fishing party of Nevada City spent the week end on Lake Spaulding and caught two big messes of large German brown and rainbow trout. Those making the trip were: Mr. and Mrs. C. Muscardini, Mr. and Mrs. Larson Henwood and two children, Miss Marie Peard and Elisha Curtis, of Nevada City; Miss Ellen Curtis, of Sacramento; Larry Segar, of Grass Valley; and Mr. and Mrs. U. S. Simonds, of Burlingame. Mr. and Mrs. Simonds are cousins and house guests of Mrs. C. Muscardini.

HERE YOU MAY SEE YOUR ICE CREAM FROZEN

C. W. Briggs, enterprising business man, has introduced something new into Grass Valley in the form of an ice cream freezer that will freeze as much as 10 gallons of ice cream in clear containers in 10 or 12 minutes so that the whole process is in view of the public. Mr. Briggs has installed this machinery at a cost of over $2,000, besides the expense of the building and turned the plant over to Mr. Brown, who will conduct an ice cream, sandwich and specialties stand near the grammar school on the corner of Race and Auburn streets. Prices are to be moderate for the children's trade.

The new plant is the first of its kind in the county and is located conveniently near the grammar school in Grass Valley on what is known as Prosperity Corner. Ice cream "while you wait," and made in view of the public should prove popular and Mr. Briggs has been complimented for introducing the new innovation into the county.

NEVADA THEATER TO SHOW "HOUSE OF ROTHSCHILD"

Nevada City theater-goers now will have their chance to witness the cinema acclaimed by critics to be the year's greatest picture and starring the screen's foremost actor, Mr. George Arliss "The House of Rothschild," is the name of the picture. It comes to the Nevada Theater screen Sunday and Monday. "The House of Rothschild" is the story of the founding and building of the great international banking house of Rothschild. This firm loaned money to governments, kept kings on their thrones, and prevented revolutions, because of its tremendous wealth and prestige. Even the great Napoleon sought favors from the House of Rothschild. "The House of Rothschild," will be at the Nevada Theater Sunday and Monday, with a matinee Sunday.

Fridays brings to the Nevada City Theater screen the old favorite Western star, Buck Jones in "Man Trailer" and another episode in the serial "Lost Jungle" and a Pop Eye short. Saturday, the spy drama "Stamboul Quest" features Myrna Loy and George Brent, together for the first time. The story has its beginning in war-ravaged Berlin and carries the action of the exciting drama into Turkey, where Miss Loy is masqueqrading as a British agent, although a spy of the Central Powers.

from all progressive elements in California's electorate. His action in sending in the state militia into San Francisco has the endorsement of all thoughtful citizens. He probably lost no votes by so doing that were not already lost. Undoubtedly he gained thousands. This, despite the fact that he has always been subservient to the banking and public utility interest, their rubber stamp in the legislature, and despite the fact of his dubious record in Iowa and in his realty deals in California.

This is no time to wield a club, to coerce, to threaten with jail and stockades the radical elements in California. For the radical element is only the spearhead of a vast discontent reflected in the Sinclair vote. Yet Merriam is that threat. Is he doing anything, for instance, to call a halt in the formation of vigilante committees, extra legal bodies ready to foment bloody battles with the harvest workers? Is he using any legal means to find a middle ground between armed and riotous radicals and armed and law breaking vigilante committees?

He is not.

If elected, he will be sure to use the mailed fist against the great body of dissatisfied, and it may be hungering labor elements in California. He will feel justified by his experiment with the state militia. He is almost certain to incline his ear to selfish vested interests and close it to the progressive, the conciliatory, the law abiding and the small home owners who struggle to keep their homes, pay their honest debts, and vote as best they may to make California a better place in which to live.

It is this threat of the mailed fist that will drive a tremendous number of those who believe in moderation and intelligent conciliation and arbitration of industrial disputes to Sinclair. These will turn rather to Sinclair than Merriam, if they believe they must choose between the ugly sharp horns of this dilemna.

But it is not necessary to make this choice. Raymond L. Haight, if elected, will steer between these two vortexes, one that would sink us in another period of retrogression and reaction, involving riots and battles with jobless, and the other, that at best would result in four years of stalemate between the governor and the legislature, and at worst would plunge California into political and economic confusion.

Let us choose the middle way, the common sense way, the safe way. Why take such desperate chances as either Merriam or Sinclair present.

Follow Raymond Haight and play safe for four years. Let us choose a Californian who can intelligently and honestly serve us.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Larsen returned recently from a motor trip that took them through the northwes and ino Canada. They went as far north as British, Columbia, Canada, and visited many points of interest in the United States among them being Glacier National Park.
